

Solution update on the last In-Class Exercise (27-02-2026)

1. A multi-talented student at UP had a couple of plans for the year 2026. One of these was to secure admission to the EBIT faculty on a scholarship and to graduate with a Cum Laude. Certainly, she plays rugby as a professional and plays volleyball as a grand mistress. However, she needs to burn the midnight oil consistently to make a cum laude.

You are required to identify and link objectives to functions in this short narrative.

Objective1- Secure admission on scholarship
Function 1- Plays Rugby and Volleyball professionally

Objective2 - Graduate with a Cum Laude
Function2 - Burn the midnight candle

2. A highly prospective business outlet in Pretoria was able to project a high profit margin and potential spread of the business across the length and breadth of South Africa within the first 2years of operations, all due to a recent government policy. However, they soon realised that due to some competence issues among the staff, their dream may be cut short.

Which of the terms in the "SWOT" concept is operational?

Weakness and Opportunity

3. The blue ocean businesses are often associated with the pull production system. True or False and why?

True because their deals are mostly expensive and associated with the high-end market client base. An example is a high-end luxury sport utility vehicle built to a customised finish, based on client demand.

False because their deals (products and services) can be based on uniqueness, yet affordable and necessary to a large client base. An example is a booming restaurant that caters to a wide segment of client base and is noted for a high level of hygiene, less expensive, and diverse meal options.
